Congressional Circles Hint That President May Soon Make Self Heard

Writer Says Borah Would Have Left G. O. P. To Aid Montana Man

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27—Further projection of Senator Burton K. Wheeler of Montana into the 1940 presidential picture and rumors that President Roosevelt will make an important political statement some time in February featured activity of the Democratic campaign front today.

The rumors concerning a possible statement by the President—presumably on his third term intentions—emanated from congressional sources. At the White House, Mr. Roosevelt continued to parry all questions on that subject and his aides were without information on it.

Senator Wheeler, who urged in Columbus, Ohio, that the President make his political intentions known soon to prevent the Democratic party from being plunged into "a chaotic condition," found his own stock as a presidential prospect rising. The rousing reception accorded Wheeler at the United Mine Workers' convention in Columbus indicated that John L. Lewis' CIO union might lean toward the Montanan's candidacy.

Furthermore, it was disclosed that the late Senator William E. Borah of Idaho would have deserted the Republican party for the first time to support Wheeler this (Continued on Page Eight)

FORMER SOLON NAMED TO FILL BORAH'S PLACE

BOISE, Idaho, Jan. 27 — John W. Thomas, former U. S. Senator from Idaho, today prepared to assume the senatorial vacancy created by the death of William E. Borah.

Thomas, a Republican, was appointed last night by Governor C. A. Bottolfsen, life long friend and admirer of Borah, whose distinguished career ended with his death a week ago in Washington. Thomas served in the senate from 1928 to 1932, when he was defeated for a second term by James R. Pope, a Democrat.

Originally appointed to the senate in June, 1928, to fill the unexpired term of Frank R. Gooding, he was elected in November of the same year to complete Gooding's term.

Under Idaho law, Thomas will serve until the next state general election in January and may then seek election to carry out the remainder of the unexpired term Borah would have served.

A former Idaho national committeeman and Republican state chairman, Thomas immediately accepted the appointment, declaring: "I am deeply appreciative to Governor Bottolfsen for the opportunity to attempt to carry on Senator Borah's program of constructive legislation in behalf of the state and nation."

Mayor Floyd F. Green ordered the investigation after receiving a telephone plea from Miss Kathryn Lewis, daughter and secretary to UMW and CIO President John L. Lewis.

A suspect was released yesterday, detectives said, when Columbus auditorium employees failed to identify him as one of the men admitted to the hall Wednesday night. Two men, who posed as reporters, were believed responsible for the lowering of the flag above the head of Lewis which caused a near-riot among delegates.

CLARKSBURG COUPLE AND YOUNGSTERS HOMELESS

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Morris of near Clarksburg and their four children were left homeless, Friday, after a fire destroyed the house on the Harvey Morrison farm, Egypt Pike, in which they were residing.

Detecting smoke after they retired Mr. and Mrs. Morris awakened their children, made their way down the smoke filled stairway and were able to save the furniture in three downstairs rooms, although all furniture in the bedrooms on the second floor was destroyed.

The family is housed temporarily with Mr. and Mrs. John Haynes who reside on the same farm.

GIRL, 22, SHOTS ANGERED LOVER

Illinois Police Arrest Killer; Man, 23, Dies In Assailant's Arms

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Jan. 27—A comely 22-year-old girl was jailed today after confessing the shot-gun-slaying of her sweetheart, who died in her arms.

The girl, Eloise Sylvester of Normal, summoned police last night and told them she shot and killed Ralph Daugherty, 23, after he had brandished a knife during a violent argument involving her and her family in the Sylvester home. "I told him to stop," the girl sobbed, "but he just gave me a wild look. Then I fired. He fell. I dropped the weapon and ran to him."

"He held out his arms to me and I put my arms around him. He gasped and I laid him down."

The girl said Daugherty came to the Sylvester home and got into a quarrel with the family. "He started after my dad, but dad yelled for Ferd, my brother," she said. "My brother heard the call and rushed in."

"Ralph reached in his pocket for a weapon and I thought it was a gun. When he started swinging something that looked like a dagger, I screamed to him to stop. He came on so I ran and got the gun."

Daugherty had been arrested frequently for disorderly conduct, drunkenness and larceny.

The girl was arrested and held pending an inquest set for Monday.

SUIT AGAINST STIFFLER FIRM SEEKS $10,000

Leonard Willoughby of Columbus, a former Pickaway County resident, filed suit Saturday in Pickaway County Common Pleas court for $10,000 damages against John F. and Allie Stiffler, of Jackson, O., doing business as the Stiffler Stores, in which he charges malicious prosecution.

Willoughby's local counsel, E. L. Crist, said that the damage action was an aftermath of a dog sale in which a check for $15 played an important part. Willoughby had purchased a coon dog from William Fowler of Circleville, Crist said, and had given a $15 check as payment. After trying the coon dog the purchaser found that it was not satisfactory and returned the canine to its former owner. At the same time he stopped payment on the check.

Fowler had bought some goods at the Circleville Stiffler store and had used the check as payment, Willoughby contends. He claims that when the check was returned to the Stiffler Store marked "payment stopped" that the firm filed fraud charges against him and had him arrested. Willoughby charges that he was damaged to the extent of $10,000 by being arrested and being forced to provide $300 bond after being bound to the grand jury. His petition says that the case has never reached the grand jury and that prosecution has now been stopped.

The transaction took place last January, Willoughby charges.

BREAK IN COLD WAVE EXPECTED FOR WEEK END

Circleville's Lowest Mark During Night Figured At Eight Degrees Above

TEMPERATURE WILL RISE

Ice Gorges Menace River District; Danger Of Flood Slight

Warmer temperatures forecast for Sunday gave Circleville and Pickaway County hope today that the latest cold wave to strike the district might be ended.

Sub-zero temperatures which were recorded Friday gave way to plus readings today as the mercury rose to as high as 15 above at Cleveland.

Circleville's lowest temperature Saturday was eight degrees.

Early this morning, the thermometer stood at nine above at Columbus; at seven at Dayton; at eight at Cincinnati and East Liverpool; at 11 at Akron, and at 13 at Toledo.

Today's forecast called for generally fair with light snow in the north portion. It was to be continued cold tonight with slowly rising temperatures tomorrow.

The state highway patrol reported a heavy snowfall in Astabula County with a few drifts. Washington C. H. also reported a light snow there was drifting over the highways.

All roads in the state are open, the highway department reported. The Sandusky Bay Bridge, closed for two days by seven-foot snow drifts, has been opened to one-way traffic, the department announced.

Temperatures in the state ranged from two to 15 above, according to department reports.

In the Cincinnati area, ice gorges continued to pile up in the Ohio River. Army engineers said there was no immediate danger of flood, however.

A freak cold wave plunged temperatures below zero in areas far South of the Mason and Dixon line still held the Southland in its grip today, but relief was promised for the week end.

Such readings as -4 at Chattanooga, Tenn., -3 at Meridian, Miss., -3 at Greensboro, N. C., and -2 at Jackson, Miss., were recorded during the frigid morning hours today. Yesterday, Chattanooga's mercury dropped to 12 below zero. The forecast for the "sunny southland"—now ice bound over wide areas—was generally fair with slowly rising temperatures.

In general, thermometer readings were 5 to 10 degrees higher than yesterday.

Meanwhile, the cold wave was broken in the Rocky Mountain region, with a two above reading at Pueblo the coldest in an area where winter temperatures far below zero are nothing out of the ordinary. Readings of 41 at Albuquerque, 42 at Denver, and 34 at Cheyenne were reported.

FAST FLEET OF U. S. SHIPS READY TO SEEK TRADE

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Jan. 27—The first of the fleet of speedy freighters by which United States hopes to wrest Latin-American trade from its European rivals was made today for departing tonight on its maiden trip to the East coast of South America.

Equipped with four Diesel engines geared to a single propeller, America's fastest freighter, the Mormacpeun, will inaugurate a new fortnightly cargo service linking New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Norfolk with South American ports. In a trial run the ship, one of four being built for the Moore McCormack South America service, achieved 19 knots.

Filipino Steamer Sinks; Japs Save All On Board

MANILA, P. I., Jan. 27—In a severe blow to the Philippine commonwealth's small merchant marine, the liner President Quezon sank stern first today off the southern tip of Japan.

The 8,431-ton steamer, making her first trans-Pacific crossing under the Filipino flag, plunged to the bottom at 11:30 this morning, eight hours after she had smashed aground on treacherous shoals of Tanegashima Island.

Passengers and crew members were removed from the sinking vessel by the Japanese steamer Okishima Maru, aided by two other rescue ships which had sped to the scene through a raging storm.

Among the President's Quezon's twelve passengers were Cyrus A. Anderson, San Francisco agency president, and Juan Cojuangco, owner of the C. & J. Line, operators of the ship. Mrs. Cojuangco and two friends were believed to have accompanied her husband on the voyage.

In addition to Filipino firemen and seamen, crew members aboard included Assistant Engineer Bistis of San Francisco.

The President Quezon was formerly the Dollar and American Mail liner President Madison. She was transferred to Philippine registry October 24, 1939.

In one of several radio messages flashed by the doomed liner, the captain reported the engine room flooded but said the vessel was resting upright on a sandy bottom and "in no immediate danger."

The ship had a varied history when she was in the Pacific trade as the President Madison. In 1933, she capsized in drydock at Seattle, trapping five men in her hold.

In 1932, while flying the Dollar Lines flag, she aided in rescue of seamen aboard the steamer Nevada, wrecked in the Aleutian Islands.

TWO MEN JAILED ON CHARGES OF MURDER, THEFT

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 27—Employing a ruse, Philadelphia scout car patrolmen early today captured two men allegedly sought in a nationwide flier on charges of murder and fur robberies in Cleveland.

Detectives said the prisoners, caught in a raid on a North Philadelphia hotel, identified themselves as Anthony Girasole, 30, and his chauffeur, Jack Reznik, both of Cleveland. Both were taken to city hall and questioned by Detective Sergeant Fred McGoldrick after Cleveland police were notified.

Stalin Puts Marshal In Command Of Campaign On Tiny Neighbor

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 27—Finnish troops captured 100 Russian tanks and several machine guns in fighting north of Lake Ladoga, it was reported in Copenhagen today.

HELSINKI, Jan. 27—For the sixth successive day three Russian army divisions today threw themselves vainly against Finland's lines north of Lake Ladoga with a double objective—to swing around the lake to the rear of the Mannerheim Line, and to rescue a fourth division trapped at Kitelee. Altogether more than 60,000 Russian troops are engaged in this, the largest single offensive of the war.

Even the Finns were willing to concede that heroic efforts were being made by the Russians to pry open the jaws of the Finnish trap against difficulties which included the coldest weather in 60 years plus the necessity of hauling supplies over icefields and through forests.

In this sub-zero temperature, amid frozen lakes and atop deep snow, the Finns are using tactics long before found successful on far different terrain. Military authorities said the Finns learned how to fight as they are doing from the methods employed by Lawrence of Arabia in his famous World War campaign in the desert.

Quick attacks and fleet retreats, usually by ski units, are the stratagems used by the Finns in harassing the Soviet units as they try to drive southward to the rescue.

Guns Cut Off Retreat

But Lake Salon separates the three northern divisions from Lake Ladoga, and the big guns of Finland's Fort Mantinsaari, on an island off the northeastern shore of Ladoga, cuts off the retreat of the division from Kitelee.

Yesterday alone, according to the Finns, 1,000 Red army men were killed, and Russian losses in the six-day campaign were placed high in the thousands.

FAMILY OF FOUR DIES IN FLAMES AS HOUSE BURNS

MACOMB, Ill., Jan. 27 — Four members of a family, including three small children, died today in a fire that trapped them on the second floor of their home while they were asleep.

The dead: Mrs. Olive Wishon, 22; her two children, Connie Roberta, 2, and Junior Duane; and a sister of Mrs. Wishon, Oledia Shilps, 8.

CINCINNATI, Jan. 27—Burns suffered when her clothing caught fire as she walked past an open grate were blamed today for the death of Mrs. Agnes Green, 75-year-old widow. Her efforts to smother the fire with bedclothing failed when the bedding also ignited. She died on the way to a hospital.

MANSFIELD, Jan. 27—Eleven-year-old William Gibbons was credited today with saving the lives of his brother and sister after flames, fed by oil from a leaking stove, swept the kitchen of their home.

The boy carried his three-year-old brother, Donnie, and his two-year-old sister, Geraldine, from the flaming room before running to a neighbor's home to turn in the alarm. The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Young, were away at the time.

Hillsboro Goes Down In Thrilling League Game; Deadlock Of 24-All Broken In Last Few Minutes; Reserve On Top, Also

Circleville High Tigers proved Friday evening that they can take it and that they can dish it out when they won a rough and tumble 32-30 South Central Ohio League contest from the Hillsboro Indians. Hillsboro came to Circleville to win and almost did it, but the fight that has turned Circleville's small team into one with which to contend prevailed and the victory was won.

The game was the thirteenth of the year for the Red and Black and the standing now reads seven victories and six defeats. Only one of the defeats is by more than four points.

TOLEDO THUMPS OHIO U. BOBCATS IN 63-50 JOUST

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27.—Toledo University's basketball team apparently was the best in Ohio today. It gained that reputation last night by proving 13 points stronger than the fast Ohio University quintet. The final score was 63 to 50 in Toledo's favor.

Adrian of Michigan previously had been defeated by the Rockets in the first game of a double-header, 44 to 29.

In Ohio conference games, Ashland and Ohio Northern gained victories. The Ashland five defeated Capital at its home court, 53 to 41, as Jim Richcreek scored 18 points for the winners. Dale Helmick and Paul Weaver led the Cap attack with 14 and 12 points respectively.

Northern proved too much for Findlay, gaining a 44 to 36 decision. In a non-conference encounter Miami walloped Cedarville, 58 to 27.

Here's How Time is Wasted in Football

By Bill Collins

CHICAGO, Jan. 27.—From the time the usher puts you in the wrong seat until the game is over, how do you ever manage to while away the time at a football game?

Football runs getting to the stadium through the tangled traffic a close second as the greatest time-killer in the world.

Hugh L. Ray of Chicago, technical adviser to the National Intercollegiate Football Rules Committee and to the National Football League, is the authority, and has figures to prove it, figures amazing to coaches and officials but NOT to the complaining stomachs of spectators.

Ray put five experienced timers to work last fall, and today revealed their findings.

College and professional games, played in 15 minute quarters with two minute intervals between the first and third periods and a 15 minute intermission after the second, would apparently last 77 minutes. High School games, with 12 minute quarters and the same intermissions, would consume 65 minutes.

But, Ray's statistical survey showed, the average elapsed time for high school football games is two hours and four minutes, for college games two hours and 29 minutes, and for professional games two hours and 33 minutes.

The actual action time, however, is but nine minutes and 53 seconds in high school games, 11 minutes and 53 seconds in high school games, 11 minutes and 57 seconds for the pros. These are the total minutes and seconds in which the ball is actually in play.

The remaining seconds, minutes and hours, Ray's timers found, are wasted by time destroyed when the clock is stopped as specified by the rules.

Ray did not compile his statistics in the interest of statistics. His findings are expected to have an important bearing on future rule changes. His assistants found, for instance, that:

The timer's watch was stopped between a dead ball and the ensuing snap from center on nearly 50 percent of the plays, and that an average of 31 seconds elapsed on each occasion, accounting for more than 2100 seconds (or 35 minutes) wasted time;

Arlington, Foe of Tiger Five, Tops Worthington

Upper Arlington, foe of the Circleville High Tiger tonight on the Arlington court, turned back the strong Worthington team Friday evening in a 23-14 contest, the Golden Bears splitting up their scoring among seven boys. Shaffer, guard, topped the list with seven tallies on three goals and two free tosses.

Worthington was held to four field goals.

Washington C. H. upset Wilmington in a South Central Ohio league game, 28-21, Card, Blue Lion Negro star, ringing in with 10 points. Earl Jones, Wilmington forward, was best for his team. Circleville invades the Wilmington court next Friday evening to seek revenge for the overtime defeat suffered a couple of weeks ago.

Greenfield continued its winning ways by taking Chillicothe, 27-23, on the Ross County court. Greenfield's scoring was this way: Miller 8, Newland 7, Grate 7. Lancaster, defeated by the Red and Black early in the season, took over Cambridge in a 52-37 game and Grove City, foe of the Tigers during February, lost a 25-21 decision to Gahanna Lincoln.

Two minutes and 11 seconds is wasted between a touchdown and the following kickoff

One minute and 30 seconds are wasted after a field goal and the ensuing kickoff;

Thirty-six seconds are lost forever after an incomplete forward pass;

And the clock is stopped each time the ball goes out of bounds, and when penalties are inflicted. Art is short and time is fleeting, etc., but time not the customers' hunger means nothing to the football timer.

The average number of plays per game, Ray discovered, is 148 for professional football, 147 for the Western Conference, and 120 for the pros.

Long division thereupon reveals that the average running time of a play in pro football is a fraction more than five seconds.

And simple subtraction — two hours and 33 minutes game time less 12 minutes and 30 seconds action time—leads one to pause and wonder what one does the other two hours and 20 minutes and 30 seconds at a professional football game.

PICKAWAY BOYS, HOLLAND GIRLS CLINCH TITLES

Teams Put Darby Lads And Scioto Lassies Out Of Way Friday Evening

Pickaway Township boys and New Holland girls, Friday night, clinched their respective championships in the Pickaway County class B league by turning back Darby boys and Scioto girls, respectively.

Pickaway has knocked 10 consecutive league foes and New Holland's lassies have taken nine opponents over the coals without a blemish. All other teams in the league except these have lost at least two games.

Scores Friday evening were:

Boys
Ashville 32, Washington 20.
Pickaway 48, Darby 15.
Jackson 25, Sallertree 19.
New Holland 32, Scioto 15.
Monroe 28, Deercreek 19.

Girls
Ashville 34, Washington 12.
Darby 26, Pickaway 7.
New Holland 32, Scioto 18.
Monroe 17, Deercreek 10.

Pickaway's sharpshooters reached their peak of the season in playing Darby's scrapping lads, Coach Carl Burger using 11 boys, all but one of whom broke into the scoring column. Junior Rhodes, Burger's center, tallied 15 points to lead the parade.

Ashville came back Friday night to drub the capable Washington team in a 32-20 game. Roese and Gregg dividing 26 points.

Sallertree, unable to reach the victory column so far this year, forced Jackson, but fell by the wayside in a 25-19 game. Mowery and Bumgarner, Jackson forwards, tallied 21 points between them.

Junior Brown, New Holland guard, had his shooting eye in rare form to pace his teammates to a big victory over Scioto. Brown hit the hoop for seven goals and three free tosses.

The Monroe-Deercreek game was a story of Neff-Reid-Easter with these three boys getting nearly all the points. Neff hit for 11, Reid for eight and Shorty Easter came through with 15 for his boys, getting all but four of the team's total.

JACOBS TRYING FOR 20 TITLE TILTS IN YEAR

By Paul Robinson

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—Mike Jacobs, who is Mr. Boxing to the fistic fraternity, plans to stage at least 20 championship fights this year and expects these will go far toward massing the $3,000,000 total he expects his fight gates to attain before Christmas.

Mike put on 11 titular bouts last year and did a gross business of $1,700,000, but before leaving for Miami yesterday, he predicted that there will be far more action in the ring through the next 11 months.

Joe Louis will defend his heavyweight crown at least four times as he did last year. The light heavyweight class saw four title bouts but may see two more this year because Champion Billy Conn demands plenty of action.

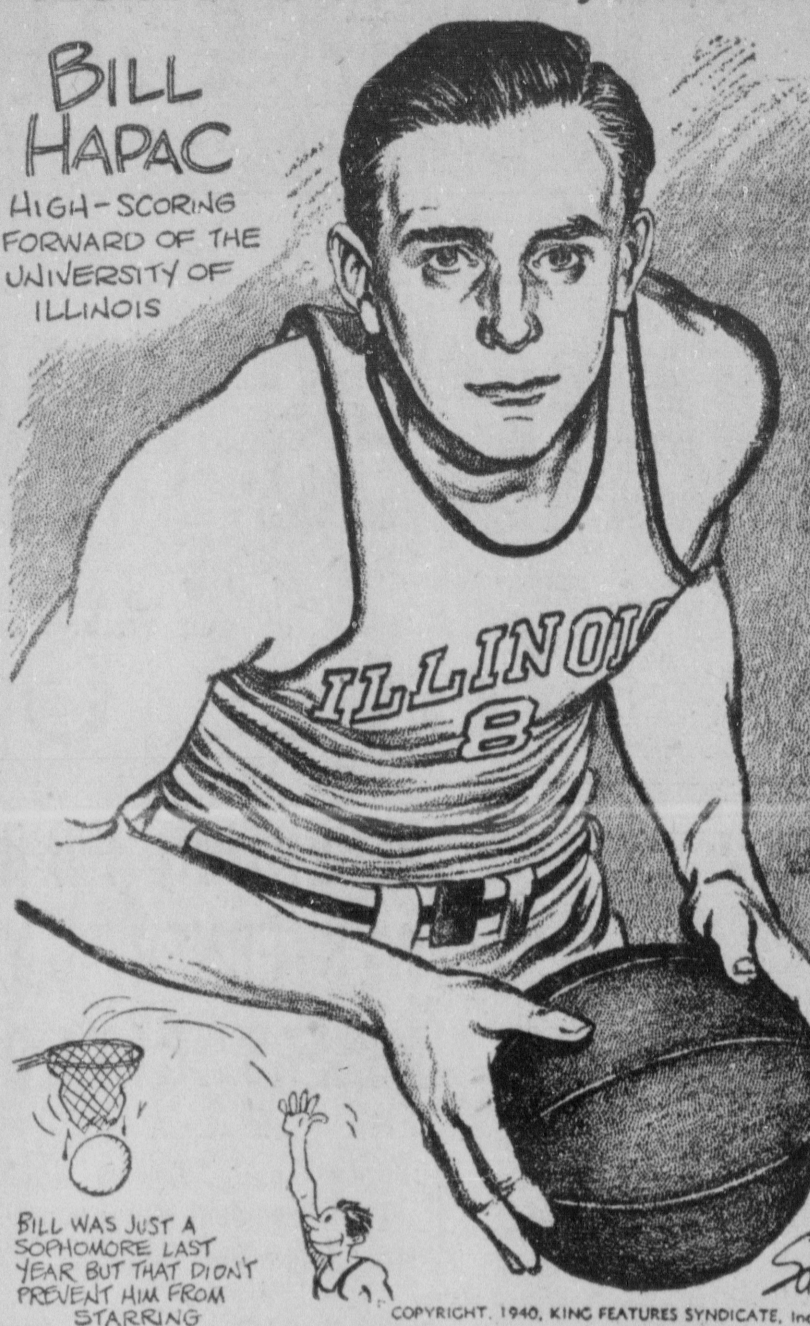

There was only one title shot in each of the middleweight, welterweight and lightweight divisions but Mike believes he can show the current champions so much money they will be falling over themselves in their hurry to lay their titles on the line.

There will be two title fights next month under Mike's auspices. Joe Louis will fight Arturo Godoy here February 9 and Billy Conn

Big Prize List Available In Ohio Bowling Contest

TOLEDO, Jan. 27.—The largest prize list in history has been guaranteed contestants in the 37th annual tournament of the Ohio State Bowling Association. Entries for this year's event, which is expected to attract more than 350 five-man squads to Toledo, will close March 23.

The tourney opens April 12 at Hagerty's Interurban alleys and will continue for five consecutive week ends.

Competition will be conducted in A and B classes in the five-man, two-man and individual events. All class B performers will operate on a handicap basis. There will be $500 first prize money for the class A team champion and $300 for the winning team in the class B section. All other prizes will be in proportion to the entry.

The major prizes for this year's event were made possible by the $600 donation of six major bowling operators in Ohio.

Following are average classifications in the A division: five-man, 910 and over; two-man, 364 and over, and individuals, 182 and over. Class B will consist of all those under the above mentioned figures in the respective classes. All class B entrants, however, will receive a handicap of 70 percent of the difference between their highest average and the class A figures in the various events.

All entries must be addressed to William J. Mattison, tournament manager, Interurban Alleys, 439 Superior Street, Toledo.

CAT REFUGEE

BOSTON—A stowaway aboard the United States steamer Algic, Abutus, pretty white and gray cat, fled from Liverpool to the United States to bring her family into the world in a peaceful land. Henry Armstrong drew a gate of almost $60,000 defending his welterweight throne against Pedro Montanez the other night and Mike has him tabbed for at least three more title shots if worthy opponents can be found for him.

Mike is trying hard to straighten out the mess in the middleweight division. He holds a contract for services of Ceferino Garcia who is recognized as champion in this state. But Nate Druzman, the Seattle promoter, has a binder on Al Hostak, who is recognized as king by the N. B. A.

SABOTAGED SKODA

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah.—Czech workmen sabotaged the huge Skoda arms works seized by Germany, according to Charles Tulka, a Czech newspaperman who visited here recently. "When Czech workmen saw that Hitler was about to take over the plant," Tulka said, "they altered the machinery by changing tiny parts from one part of the plant to another, putting a wheel with 14 cogs where a 16-cog wheel belonged. They destroyed most of the factories blueprints."

DOG'S LIFE

AKRON, O.—The will of the late Clarence W. White, oil and gas operator, did two things for Toby, the dog who was always at his side. It gave him a new home, with Glenn Gump, of Cairo, O., and it provided him with a life income of $50 a month from a trust fund.

LUTHERAN CHURCH CONGREGATIONS OBSERVING TENTH ANNIVERSARY

Initial Rite To Be Held This Sunday

Numerous Features Set For Three Outstanding 1940 Events

Over 2,000 congregations of the American Lutheran Church will celebrate the tenth anniversary of its organization by holding three festival services during 1940. The first service, historical in nature, will be held on Sunday, January 28. The second, evangelistic in character, is planned for the Pentecost season; and the third, planned for Sunday, October 13, will be a Thanksgiving and Praise service.

The latter service will take place during the biennial convention of the church to be held in Detroit, Michigan, in Salem Lutheran Church. The Anniversary is to be celebrated also at the annual conventions of the thirteen districts of the Church and by various organizations of the Church.

Members of the program committee planning these services are Dr. M. Reu, of Dubuque, Iowa; Dr. W. E. Schuette, of Seewickley, Pa.; Rev. K. A. Hoessel, of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, and Rev. G. B. Tejan, of Pittsburgh, Pa.

The American Lutheran Church, which is the third largest Lutheran body in the country, with 552,000 baptized members and 385,000 confirmed members, was organized in Toledo, on Monday, August 11, 1930, from a merger of three synods, namely, the Iowa, Ohio and Buffalo. The Ohio Synod was organized September 14, 1818, at Somerset. The Buffalo Synod was organized in 1845 at Milwaukee, Wisconsin; and the Iowa Synod dates its beginning to August 24, 1854 at St. Sebald, Iowa. Congregations of the American Lutheran Church are found in 32 states, the District of Columbia, and Canada. Extensive Mission fields are maintained in India and New Guinea.

Other features of the Anniversary celebration are the appointment of Church Life and Growth Committees in each congregation, whose twofold aim is to deepen spiritual life and promote an intensive program of evangelism; and the raising of a Thankoffering Fund of $500,000. The Church Life and Growth committees are to form a permanent part of the congregational organization.

Jesus Proclaims His Messiahship ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON By Alfred J. Buecher

When Jesus and His disciples came to Bethphage, near Jerusalem, Jesus told two of His disciples to go into the town, find an ass tethered with her colt, and bring them to Him. The disciples brought the colt and ass to Jesus, and put garments on them, and Jesus rode the ass while multitudes of people followed them, strewing palm leaves in their path. When they came to Jerusalem all the people in the city were excited and asked, "Who is this?" And the people with Jesus said, "This is the prophet, Jesus, from Nazareth of Galilee." Jesus came to the temple in Jerusalem and found men trading there. He drove them out, accusing them of making God's house a den of thieves. (GOLDEN TEXT—Matt. 21:5)

OHIO PASTORS' MEETING TO BE ONE OF FINEST

The Ohio Pastors' Convention to be held in Columbus next week, marking the 20th anniversary of this interdenominational gathering of clergymen, promises to be one of the most successful sessions since the convention began in 1920, the Rev. C. F. Bowman, a member of its program committee, announced Saturday.

"Reports from the office of the Ohio Council of Churches in Columbus indicate a large attendance, and it is certain that the convention this year offers one of the strongest programs of addresses and discussions that we have ever had," he said.

The Rev. Mr. Bowman represents the ministers of this county on the state-wide committee that drew up the program for the convention. He is now in charge of enrolling local ministers for attendance at the convention.

The program committee expressed the hope that many other local pastors would join this group. He pointed out that the expense of the trip can be kept low if several men travel together by automobile.

It was announced also that a special invitation to attend the convention is extended to all Catholic priests in the state. They will be welcomed at the sessions and will be provided with complimentary registration cards on request. The convention is sponsored by the Ohio Council of Churches, which is the interdenominational organization of the Protestant churches of the state.

ORANGES FOR WOUNDED

SACRAMENTO, Cal., — Oranges, cabbages and tomatoes, rich in vitamin C, may become mandatory items of diet for soldiers exposed to shell-fire—now that a University of California scientist has found the commodities speed healing operations. Experimenting at the university, found that wounds of animals fed on a diet of ascorbic acid-vitamin C healed more rapidly than those without the vitamins in their diet.

BUREAU FORMED TO STUDY USES OF FARM WASTE

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo.—Missouri has set out to explore the recently developed art of chemistry for converting waste farm products into useful commodities.

Gov. Lloyd C. Stark recently announced creation of the Missouri Farm Chemurgic Commission as the first step in applying the new science to agriculture in this state. The commission's job will be to promote development of new industrial uses of Missouri farm products—to bring profits out of waste.

Chemurgy is a word coined only five years ago to denote the chemical processing of agricultural surpluses and crop wastes for industrial purposes.

Noteworthy examples of chemurgy are:

Knitted clothing fabricated from cottage cheese.

Perfumes, paper boxes and window shades made out of corn wastes.

Highways constructed with cotton fabric.

Cosmetics, candles and tobacco pipes made of honey.

Automobile parts from soybeans.

ANGLO-AMERICAN TROUBLES

JOHN BULL has a nasty way of bulldozing other nations when he's at war. The British navy's present interference with American mails, and incidental retention and delay of ships carrying them, naturally make Americans mad. It revives the memory of old irritations and of Britain's unpaid debt.

So we naturally have another outburst of resentment in Congress, with legislators demanding retaliatory measures and Senator Lundeen of Minnesota declaring:

"What we need is a little of the old-fashioned red-blooded diplomacy of the Andrew Jackson type. When the French failed to pay a debt, then Jackson threatened to seize their islands. We ought to try the same thing. There would be no war. They can't even fight the one they have now, and are howling for us to come over and do it."

Anybody on our side of the Atlantic can understand this resentment. But it's a good time for diplomats and lawmakers to keep their shirts on. It just happens, as it has happened sometimes in the past, that Britain, doubtless without intending anything of the kind, is doing us a substantial service. Her fleet is a wall of defense between us and exploding Europe. And while she is holding back European autocracy and militarism, she is leaving our own war fleet free to guard us from similar perils in the Pacific.

It should be possible to patch up these mail troubles without a major operation.

TIME FOR CALMNESS

CAN'T we lay off the practice of calling each other "menaces" and "perils" and "subversive influences", for a while at least? A fellow who disagrees with you, or criticizes public officials or policies, or rails at newspapers or anything else, may be right or wrong, wise or foolish. He is hardly ever a deep-dyed villain and his declared attitude is seldom the determining factor in effecting a change or directing a course.

If some criticism is unduly harsh, why criticize the critic with equal violence? Why not answer him as clearly and logically as possible, so that the truth will be seen and the false will be left ineffective and harmless?

That "Christian Front" whose members were grabbed by the government seem to be more front than Christian.

Somebody has described Paul McNutt, presidential aspirant, as "a piece of Grand Rapids furniture." Maybe a chair. He's being sat on lately.

The hardest thing the Germans have been up against yet is the new Nazi rule that they mustn't grumble when they can't get decent food or clothing.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE . . . Hour by Hour

Pages From the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up and about at the usual hour and greatly surprised to find Mack Noggle at the post. Cold during the night, he said, so he was out much earlier than usual. The next time you see a flight of old stars scan it carefully and maybe you can answer the question I have in mind. Why are the steps always worn deeply to the right and left and seldom in the middle?

Red Crayne told me of hundreds of mallards and woods ducks on the river. Not unusual to see mallards here in winter, but woods ducks I have seen all ways have put in the appearance in the warm months. Silly birds, sticking around here in weather such as this.

Remember Spunkytown? A native who had a horse named Charlie drove up in front of the mill one day, entered and said to a friend: "Come on. Let's go to town and get drunk." "What town?" asked the friend and the horseman replied, "How do I know. Look out and see which way Charlie is headed." Snow, someone told me, weighs three pounds to the cubic foot. Go on from there and dig out any statistics in which you are interested.

Bob Brehmer dropped in and asked how the fund to aid the Finns is progressing. Told him I knew of no authorized local collection, but that I had accepted some cash from friends and was about to send it on to headquarters. Bob gave me a check for $5 and said he intended making further contributions as time passes.

Add chiseling masterpieces: Charlie Gilmore trying to talk the Coffee Club into contributing toward a haircut. And add things I didn't know until now:

Some so-called bald men require much more frequent haircuts than those of us who have hung onto our hair. John Hummel says the hair near his ears grows several times as fast since the top adornment became only a memory.

Walter Heise, Mrs. Ralph Crist, Harry Mumma, Harry Cupp, and others called and said they saw the airplane that made the peculiar cloud in the sky last week. Sub-zero weather up there made the cloud out of exhaust gases, say motor mechanics. And that supports Frank Fischer's theory, and explodes mine that it was an actual cloud.

Lady Paul Adkins is seen about very little these days. Two lambs arrived in this arctic weather and were almost frozen to death when she found them, took them inside, revived them and since has been feeding them with a spoon. Getting a big kick out of it, too. Good for her.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,
BRASS RING TO DIES

WASHINGTON—Of all the congressional investigating committees that have flared box car headlines across the front pages, strangest and most turbulent is the so-called Un-Americanism Committee. Its antics have produced almost as many sensations as its disclosures.

It has been denounced by the President of the United States for maliciously smearing innocent citizens; its chairman has been scathingly excoriated by other Congressmen for associating with un-American elements; its reports have been repudiated by its own members; and they themselves have fought like cats and dogs.

Stranger still, one of Dies' most influential forces isn't a member of the committee at all. He is J. B. ("Doc") Matthews, reconstructed radical and one-time teacher in faraway Tibet, who has the title of Committee Investigator and draws $6,000.

It was Matthews who concocted the report hanging the Red label on all consumer organizations except the one in which he formerly had an interest—a report that was issued without the consent or knowledge of the committee, except Chairman Dies, and repudiated later.

The internal mauling is almost unbelievable. There are almost as many factions inside the committee as there are members, and they make little attempt to conceal their mutual animosity. Newspapermen, spectators and even witnesses have been treated to spectacles of public brawling.

In view of this internal bickering, it is nothing short of a miracle that the Dies Committee has done as well as it has. Unquestionably it has made the public acutely aware of un-American activities. Unquestionably it has driven some of these activities underground.

But that it could have been much more effective had it had one-half the organization of, say, the Senate Munitions Committee, is the consensus of all seasoned Washington observers.

CHAIRMAN DIES

Take a bird's-eye view of the committee personnel, and you will get at least some idea why it has the appearance of Stephen Leacock's rider who leaped on his horse and galloped away in all directions.

Martin Dies, chairman of the committee, has one great political asset, and for a man of 38 scant summers it has taken him a long way. He appreciates the value of publicity.

If Martin's constituents down in Orange County, Texas, ever decide that he is too hot to send back to Washington, he could make four times his congressional salary as a public relations expert. The late Ivy Lee, Steve Hannagan, and all the other publicity big-shots would seem pikers beside him.

Dies picks his witnesses according to the crop of headlines they can reap. The testimony that will splash the largest amount of printer's ink gets immediate priority with him. That is why Martin is now eying Hollywood so greedily for his next big sensation. Investigator Matthews has filled him with horrendous tales of Reds in the movie colony, and Martin can hardly wait until he stirs up the headlines.

Dies also has a showman's sense in picking the appropriate time to stage a congressional spectacle. Seldom has he

What We DON'T Know About the Cold

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

ONE OF the reasons that I cannot bring myself to take the extreme alarmist view of the common cold is that I do not believe any serious complications occur from it. The scareheads of pneumonia, sinus disease and middle ear infection are waved in front of the poor victim who is told he must "watch" the cold to prevent these things. What "watch" means nobody knows.

So far as pneumonia is concerned, if that is thought to be a cold "runs into" pneumonia, it was pneumonia from the beginning. This opinion of mine was challenged some time ago by the commissioner of health of Massachusetts, who told me that "they thought" at the Harvard Medical School that a great many cases of pneumonia developed from the common cold.

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

No Certain Method

Colds may pave the way for sinus infection and throat infection that leads to middle ear infection, but since people with sinus disease "catch cold" very easily, it is very difficult to disentangle the data. Nor do I find any certain method by which these complications can be avoided if the common cold occurs, except possibly by staying in bed.

I am willing to offer a personal reward of a thousand dollars for anybody who can prove that pneumonia was caused by the common cold. Full data must be submitted and the decision left with the writer of this column.

Under treatment and prevention, the first thought is of immunization by an antitoxin or anti-serum, such as is used in other infectious diseases. Unfortunately, we do not know positively the cause of the common cold and, therefore, we have no positively certain immunizing agent. It is believed to be due to a virus, but it is not certainly proved. Even if so, we are still in difficulty because the virus diseases present considerable perplexities in their immunity reactions.

Hard to Get At

The germs for which we have good anti-sera live in the tissue spaces. Viruses live inside the cells and are hard to get at. Under any circumstances, there is no valuable anti-virus vaccine against the common cold yet available.

But the final study on the value of drugs was made by Dr. Diehl, at the University of Minnesota, who passed out white capsules to a large group at the Student Health Clinic. Capsule A had aspirin and phenacetin; capsule B had codeine, and capsule C had sugar. He asked all the students to report the amount of relief they did not know what was in the capsules; they all thought they were taking the same thing. The results showed that the only marked relief obtained was from the codeine capsules.

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

BRENT AND Romany were having their orange juice when Marvin Yanning, head of the artists' bureau at Interstate, stopped at their table.

He smiled down at Romany. "Don't tell me you were on the air this morning!"

"I was," Romany nodded happily. "I'm afraid I've lost my amateur standing."

"Swell!" Yanning ran his hand over his bald head in a nervous gesture. "You're certainly coming along. When are you going to drop in to see me? I'd like to talk business."

"I'll run in perhaps this afternoon," Romany was flattered that he wanted to talk with her.

"Could you make it two o'clock?" Yanning asked. "That would suit me better than any other hour."

"I'll be there," Romany promised. When Yanning walked away, Brent shook his head.

"Papa doesn't approve," he said frowning. "I don't like to see you getting mixed up with Yanning and the artists' bureau."

"Oh, did I make a mistake?" Romany looked up from her coffee.

"I think so," Brent nodded. "Wait awhile before you sign up with anybody. My advice is to call Yanning back and tell him you can't make the appointment today."

"All right," Romany said, trusting his judgment blindly. "You know best, of course."

"Yanning's a lightweight," Brent expressed his opinion vehemently. "Lord knows why they sent him here from New York to run the artists' bureau. Must have a drag, I guess. You'll tie yourself up and have ten per cent going out of your salary, and if you get a real break, you're tied up for five years or so. Suppose you get a movie offer?"

Romany nodded, understanding. Brent went on:

"Yanning plays favorites, too. If he gets a grudge he'll hold you back and push his friends. And he thinks he's quite a ladies' man."

"You like him, don't you?" Romany smiled.

"Oh, nobody likes him," Brent shrugged. "There's nothing personal in my feeling. I've always free lanced, and that's what I advise you to do. Interstate isn't the only broadcasting system in town. You'll want to go around to the others, too."

"I'm the luckiest girl in the world," Romany sighed then, "to have met you at the station, Brent. It probably would have taken me months to get where I am now on my own. You've been so thoughtful."

"I guess you know having you for a protegee is about the nicest thing that's ever happened to me," Brent said seriously. "If I can really help you get somewhere in radio, Romany, I'll be just as happy as you about it."

They ate for a time in silence, then Brent brought up the subject that was on both their minds.

"I'm terribly sorry about what Myra said to you this morning," he looked down at his plate unhappily. "I don't know what to say to you."

"You mustn't forget it," Romany said swiftly. "That's just what I intend to do."

"I guess you know," Brent looked up then, "this finishes our engagement as far as I'm concerned."

"Oh, I'm sorry," Romany's eyes clouded. "I feel as though I'm to blame."

"You mustn't feel that way," Brent touched her hand fleetingly. "It never would have been a go."

Myra certainly is not the sort of woman I would want for my wife," Romany sighed unhappily.

"I suppose not. But women are

FOR A price almost every woman is content to pay for a flattering gown, this model is unusually good. The fabric, a caressing jersey bodice and a gilt-embroidered sheer skirt, are pleasing together and permit no jewelry or lots of it. Unlike an all-jean dress, this one does not cling to the hips and, therefore, is a better choice for the figure which isn't perfect. The suggestion of sleeves is a help, too, if arms and shoulders aren't what they might be. It is an American interpretation of a Paris model.

DEBATERS HOLD
NINE PRACTICES

In preparation for the debate tournament at Washington C. H. S. today, ten practice debates were held this week.

Teams participating in these debates were the regular debating squad of C. H. S., and affirmative and negative teams from both C. H. S. public speaking classes.

Representing the regular teams were Paul Turner and Leland Siegwald, affirmative and Lloyd Jones, Marvin Henness and William Burget, the negative. Mary Fickardt and Marilyn Lutz, affirmative and Edna Mae Henn and Mary Jane Bowers, negative, supported the second period public speaking class.

Debating for the fifth period class in public speaking were Howard Orr and David Eagleson, affirmative and Robert Brehmer and David Hilyard, negative.

At Washington Court House today, Circleville had four teams debating. These were the varsity teams and the fifth period public speaking squad.

This week Mr. Johnson, debate coach, received an invitation to a debating tournament at Fremont, March 2.

Next Friday, February 2, the squad opens its regular season at Columbus East. Circleville negative opposes the Columbus East affirmative.

Others teams in the round-robin with Circleville this year are Newark, Columbus East, Columbus, West, Springfield and Washington Court House. Of these, Circleville has the smallest enrollment with 428 pupils. The others, respectively, have 1150, 1500, 1385, 2447 and 581 pupils.

LECTURER GIVES
TALK ON AFRICA

At 12:45, Thursday, "Travels in Liberia" was presented to a group of grade school and high school pupils. At that time, Joseph E. Elliott, engineer and explorer in Liberia, told some of the history of that country and his personal adventures there.

Mr. Elliott related some of the characteristics of the different tribes of natives living in this part of Africa. He described some of his experiences with these people, and explained a few of their customs.

To illustrate his talk, the speaker showed colored maps and pictures taken in Liberia. Mr. Elliott is traveling through the country and lecturing before high school and college groups.

ROTARY SPEAKER
TALKS ON WORLD
PEACE PROBLEM

Wednesday afternoon, sixth period, Dr. Guy Cutshall, college and university president, addressed an assembly of high school pupils. Dr. Cutshall's was the first in a series of International Understanding lectures, sponsored by the local Rotarians.

In his address, Dr. Cutshall explained inside and outside nature and stressed their relative importance to the present international situation. He explained that culture (our inside nature) must make great strides and keep far ahead of civilization (the outside nature) if our society is to endure. When war occurs, it is because we are concentrating more on civilization than improving ourselves along cultural lines.

One thought Dr. Cutshall quoted was "the reason such ancient civilizations as Rome, Egypt, Carthage, and the others failed was because they did not have enough culture to float their civilization."

In the high school social room, Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, Dr. Cutshall discussed another topic, "Organizing the World for Peace."

Some points that Dr. Cutshall emphasized were: He does not believe that there will be any permanent world wide peace for the next two hundred years, but we may start now making strides toward that peace. He believes that there is nothing to gain by sending an army to England.

Dr. Cutshall explained that the strength of an army is inversely proportional to the square of the distance from the scene of action. Thus an army sent from a country 100 miles from the scene of action is only one-fourth as efficient as one sent from a distance of 50 miles.

This speaker is not a believer that all nations should immediately throw away their arms, but as universal peace in being attained, the nations will gradually disarm. This condition will not occur, though, until some sort of federation of European states is established. It is vital, he said, that the countries of the Western Hemisphere remain neutral during the present struggle and thus set an example to the old world that countries can live peacefully together regardless of borders.

For the next three Wednesday evenings, these Rotary programs will be given on the International Situation. Next week's guest speaker will be G. Sidney Phelps. Mr. Phelps has traveled extensively and lived in the Orient. His subject for discussion will be "Developments in the Far East."

ANNUAL BENEFIT
PLANS PROGRESS

Thursday evening, the Stooze meeting was held at the home of Paul Walters. At this meeting various club projects were discussed. The main "thing on the fire" is the annual Stooze benefit dinner to be held the week of February 5. This year the club is donating the proceeds of the dinner to the "band uniform fund."

Committees were appointed by President Orr for carrying out the details of the dinner. Naturally, the most important part of a dinner is the food. In charge of this committee is Tye Davis. His aides are Robert Brown, Harry Clifton, Robert Goeller and William Thornton.

Advertisement is in charge of Gale Hitchcock who has on his committee Jack Beck, Hulse Hays and Sam Stubbs.

Tableware will be obtained by Tom Harden, chairman, Robert Bowsher, Tom Dewey, Frank Geib and Sam Stubbs.

Tables and chairs will be set up by Jack Funk, chairman, Henry Davis, Jr., and Paul Walters.

A clean-up committee is composed of Robert Brown, Henry Davis, Clark Martin, Howard Orr and Clarence Thorne.

Members of the club will act as "viand purveyors".

Sam Stubbs is in charge of distributing tickets to the band members who are helping in this project. The price of the dinner is $0.55.

Robert Brown and Sam Stubbs were appointed to investigate bands for the annual Stooze dance.

EDITORIAL

ARMCHAIR ADVENTURES

Have you ever been in China, or Paris? Did you ever talk with Napoleon, or were you present when Rome burned? Have you ever seen Queen Elizabeth or Marco Polo? I have, many times. Not really, of course, but through my books, with the help of my imagination. I wish you knew these people; I'm sure you would enjoy them.

If you've never gone exploring with a good book and an apple, or some candy, you should try it some time. You'll find it a fascinating pastime.

Perhaps you think you don't like to read. That is because you don't know your books well enough. In time they grow to be like old friends, always on hand when you need them. Why, they are ideal friends; you can disagree with them and they never talk back.

There are so many kinds of books I can't possibly tell you which ones you should read, but perhaps I can help you a little.

Do you like the out-of-doors, enjoy taking hikes, studying trees, or flowers, or birds? There are countless books written on those subjects; libraries are filled with them.

Almost everyone likes adventure. Try Jack London or John Masefield; or Richard Halliburton if you like really tall tales. Instead of reading a dime thriller, taste some of Edgar Allan Poe's masterpieces of horror. A chill is guaranteed with every one.

Maybe you like to know about people. Biographies were written for people just like you. Queen Victoria, Napoleon, Mary Queen of Scots, Abraham Lincoln and countless others will become familiar acquaintances after you have read about them.

Are you an idealist? Do you like to rove in the realm of fancy, or do you yearn to see life through new perspectives? In such a case, you will enjoy poetry throughout your life. There is always a poem for every mood, and it is comforting to be able to turn to one at an appropriate time and find that others have felt as you do.

Someone once said, "Literature is life." Well, maybe not life, but it is a picture of life. Every age lives in its literature; though the characters have long been dead, their spirits live on in literature.

I have mentioned a few of the reasons why I think you will enjoy reading. Some day soon, arm yourself with a good book and set out in an armchair to explore some of the jungles of literature. Delightful adventures are certain to await you.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

started a hearing when Congress was in session. That would give him too much competition. He waits until he can have the stage alone.

While grabbing for the headlines is not new with congressional committees, Dies carries it to such an extreme that he jumps from witness to witness before he has dug out half the hidden facts. Instead of a painstaking and thorough record such as prepared by the LaFollette Civil Liberties Committee, Dies has left behind him a trail of blurred headlines, sensational, but giving birth to no corrective legislation.

DIES' SATELLITES

Second in command of the committee is Joe Starnes of Alabama. Joe is 45 against Dies' 38, and therefore jealous. Never can Joe, try as he may, obtain the newspaper ecumens reaped by his Democratic colleague.

Like Dies, Starnes came to Washington on the New Deal landslide, and also like Dies, the New Deal is anathema to him. So also are labor and anyone remotely resembling a liberal. Unlike Dies, however, Starnes has a war record—in fact, one to be proud of.

Second faction inside the committee consists of the two Republican members, who spend most of their time trying to play anti-administration politics. The only occasions on which they differ with Dies is when he checks them in this pursuit—which isn't often. On everything else they are with him 100 percent.

J. Parnell Thomas of New Jersey, bald, a snappy dresser and Wall Street broker, is a wordy wrangler whose name once was Feeney, and who is on leave from the brokerage firm of Paine, Webber and Company to serve in Congress. If he had his way the committee would spend all its time harrrying labor leaders.

Noah M. Mason of Illinois, gray-haired and baby-faced, also is a zealous partisan sharpshooter, but more polite and considerate than Thomas. Mason is a great admirer of Dies and could barely contain himself when the chairman consented to make a speech in his district.

THE LIBERALS

Most hard-hitting of the three liberals is Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts. Able and a tough fighter, Casey was appointed to the committee only last summer and for a while kept in the background in order not to be charged with bias against Dies. But when he swung into action the sparks flew.

At one private committee meeting he tongue-lashed Thomas and Mason into silence, and took a leading role in rewriting the Matthews report branding consumer's organizations as Reds. A World War veteran and lawyer, Casey is strongly anti-Communist, but he is also just as strongly against Red-baiting — a fact he has forcefully called to Matthews' attention on various occasions.

John J. ("Jack") Dempsey of New Mexico, charming, white-haired and 60, has striven to keep the committee within the bounds of decency, but there have been occasions when he went out to New Mexico to escape the mess. Dempsey was privately outraged at Matthews' attack on the consumer organizations but, unlike Voorhis, didn't blast it. Dempsey's secret ambition is to keep on good terms with both Dies and the liberals.

which obviously is impossible, and sometimes he gets caught in between.

Jerry Voorhis of California, young, tousle-haired, gentle, is one of the most idealistic members of Congress and also one of the most ineffectual. He always tries to do the right thing and is utterly fearless in advocating what he believes in. But he is so kindly and altruistic that he often defeats his own purpose.

On occasions when a hard-swinging onslaught is required, he talks softly and sorrowfully—and gets nowhere. With a little explosiveness added to his ability and courage, he would be a whirlwind instead of a mild zephyr.

BRITISH FIRMS GIVE INSURANCE TO MEN AT WAR

LONDON—Soldiers, sailors and airmen of Britain's fighting forces are today taking out insurance policies covering the risk of death on active service.

While rates for ordinary life insurance policies have not been changed since the outbreak of war, an additional premium has to be paid on all new policies to obtain coverage against war risks.

"In most cases, the additional premium ranges as high as 24.30 percent," an official of a leading British insurance company said today.

Such a variety of factors have to be taken into account when considering war risks that it has been impossible to fix a scale of premiums to cover every individual case.

"Aviation, for instance, has to be considered as a separate risk. In the case of men, such as pilots of the R. A. F., whose duties are particularly dangerous, each application for a life insurance policy is considered individually.

"Insurance policies taken out before the war which did not contain a special war risk clause, still hold good, although the policyholder has joined one of the armed forces. No additional premium is payable in respect of these policies.

BIG OIL TRUCK BREAKS PUMP, HINDERS TRAFFIC

Traffic was halted momentarily at Court and Main, Friday when a large auto transportation truck broke its oil pump. The truck was hauling Plymouths from Detroit to Miami, Florida, and is owned by the McDowell Transportation Company of Miami.

The truck, awaiting a new oil pump, was parked in front of the E. E. Clifton garage on South Court Street until late Friday afternoon.

CARS HIT IN COURT STREET

Skidding as he tried to stop his car, Irwin Smith, South Court Street, struck the back of Tom Stocklin's automobile on South Court Street. Stocklin was turning into an alley and Smith, traveling behind him, collided when the car failed to stop. Smith was driving the car belonging to Charles Glick. Damage to fenders and running boards was sustained by both cars.

ITALY NEEDS CHORINES

ROME—The war has caused a shortage of chorus girls in Italy. The reason is that most of the girls who danced and sang in Italian revues were English. At the outbreak of the hostilities those who were in Italy hurried home and others who had been engaged for forthcoming productions will now be unable to take part in them.

GRAIN COMPANY STOCKHOLDERS MEET, HEAR. REPORTS OF 1939 BUSINESS

TWO DIRECTORS OF COOPERATIVE ELECTED AGAIN

Business For Year Totals $315,975.59, Annual Report Shows

IMPROVEMENTS ARE MADE

Ralph Head, J. B. Stevenson Retained On Board For Another Annum

Stockholders of the Pickaway Grain Co., a cooperative organization, gathered Friday in the offices of the Farm Bureau to hear reports of business during the last year and to name directors for the next two years. The list of stockholders includes 153 persons.

The business report for the year disclosed that gross receipts amounted to $315,975.59, somewhat below last year's figure, but the report disclosed also that the business was operated at a better profit than a year ago. S. L. Warner, manager of the Grain Company for the last 12 years, said that the fact that grain prices were low cut down the company's revenue, and he added that since Route 22, west of Circleville, over which the company receives much of its grain, was closed during the harvest season many of the organization's patrons sold their grain elsewhere rather than travel the long detour into Circleville.

$2,200 On Improvements

The company spent about $2,200 on improvements during the year, Mr. Warner said, the grinding business increasing to such an extent that a new dump and hoist were added. Grain is taken off the farmer's wagons and trucks automatically now and poured into the grinder.

The Grain Company was organized in July, 1923, and has been a success every year since that time, stockholders declared Friday after the meeting.

They named Ralph D. Head of Pickaway Township and J. B. Stevenson of Wayne Township for additional two year terms as directors. Other directors are T. M. Glick of Circleville Township, M. G. Steeley of Washington Township and Nelson Baker of Jackson Township. Mr. Glick is the cooperative's president. The directors will organize for the next year at their meeting scheduled Friday, February 2.

ANCIENT MIAMI WALL OF CORAL ROCK NEAR END

MIAMI, Fla.—Last relic of Miami's early history will be torn down. It is the Fort Dallas Wall. This ancient coral rock wall is closely associated with the early history of Miami, being the boundary of the original city then known as Fort Dallas.

Early settlers of the region established Fort Dallas as a barricade against the Seminole Indians. The fortress surrounded by the eight-foot wall, was named after Commodore Dallas, at that time commander of the U. S. Fleet in the Gulf of Mexico. The site remained Fort Dallas from the year 1835 until July 28, 1896 when it was incorporated as the city of Miami.

In the wall can be found the flattened bullets of the Indians, for the coral rock helped withstand more than one attack of the everglade Red Men.

One of the last relics of Miami's early days, the wall will be removed to make space for a garage where 1940 automobiles will be sold.

BRITISH ARMY'S FOOD UNDERGOES SEVERE TESTING

LONDON—Feeding the British troops both home and abroad is a big job these days, but when the British Tommy sits down to eat, either here or in France, he can be quite confident that no chances have been taken with his food.

For expert "samplers" have been at work before the food was accepted as part of his ration.

Before any contractor is able to supply foodstuffs to the British forces he must send specifications and samples. The samples are immediately sent to the War Office where analysis carry out extensive tests.

The whole organization of supplies—rather like arranging a vast picnic—is the responsibility of the quartermaster—general's department. Detailed organization falls to the Royal Army service corps, headed by the director of supplies and transport at the War Office.

The supplies do not mean food alone. They embrace gasoline, disinfectants and many other items. The food items alone total 250.

Here, in England, there are many depots carrying numerous stocks, which are regularly dispatched overseas by the movement control staff to the base supply depots in France.

The food is sent by "pack trains" to the various railheads. At present 500 tons of food are reaching the railheads daily.

At the railroads, the food is taken away by the R. A. S. C. in trucks. Then comes the job of "breaking bulk," or splitting the supplies to be handed to the various formations.

One of the basic principles of the working is that there shall always be three days' supply of food at the railheads.

BREEZY BULLETS

CHICAGO — Anthony Pinzine can't pay alimony right now because he has a sore throat that needs expensive medical care. He has the sore throat, he told Judge Rudolph Desort, because his wife, Bertha, shot four bullets at him. Bertha's rebuttal was that she only shot at him twice. Judge Desort decided the Pinzines should stop fighting over the temporary alimony and make arrangements for a divorce.

WARNS FARMERS ON BOOM

BOISE, Idaho.—American farmers who would profit from the war boom in prices were warned by C. Y. Younstrom, agricultural economist, not to buy more land and expand operations but to pay off existing debts. The uncertainty of the duration of the European War and the possibility of federal control of price levels made it risky for individual expansion, he asserted.

Congressional Circles Hint That President May Soon Make Self Heard

year. William K. Hutchinson, chief of the Washington bureau of International News Service, printed the story, quoting Borah. Queried about it, Wheeler said in Columbus:

"I never would have mentioned it myself but he (Borah) told it to me and to a number of other people."

On top of this, here in Washington, the veteran Independent George Norris said:

"If President Roosevelt isn't the Democratic candidate and Wheeler is, I'd support him. I think he's made a wonderful and fine record since he has been in the senate and is fully qualified to be president."

The capitol hill rumor that Mr. Roosevelt was about to break his silence seemingly hinged on Senator Vic Donahey's conference at the White House Thursday. The Ohio senator is in a position to control his delegation to the Democratic national convention, and reports from congressional offices say he and the President discussed this matter. Donahey himself won't talk, and the President says they talked very little politics.

Vic Favorite Son?

The Ohio primary falls on May 13 this year. Candidates for the presidency must assent in writing to use of their names 60 days before that date, or by March 14. It is customary, however, to file in February to avoid confusion and permit more time for campaigning. Observers from the Buckeye state anticipate that Donahey will file as a favorite son candidate—but if Mr. Roosevelt should decide to run, his announcement also would have to be made at an early date.

Men closely associated with the President, however, while admitting they are not in his confidence on this score, continue to predict that his pronouncement on the subject of a third term will be withheld for some time. This group holds to the view Mr. Roosevelt wants to retire.

Whether he runs or not, the President continued a series of political conferences. Latest to see him were the trio who arranged an 11-state "liberal conference" for Mr. Roosevelt to address at Salt Lake City last fall had the executive gone to the Pacific Coast. The President did not go, John L. Lewis denounced the proposed conference, and it was abandoned.

The three New Dealers who undertook to assemble this meeting of western liberals are Assistant Secretary of Interior Oscar Chapman, Assistant Attorney General Normal M. Littell and Assistant Secretary of Labor Marshall E. Dimock. They held an almost unnoticed session with the President yesterday.

Chapman conceded that the subject of the liberal conference had been mentioned briefly and that it was definitely off. He added, however, that this was not the main topic under discussion—but he refused to talk about that topic.

Farley Returns

Meanwhile, Postmaster General James A. Farley was back from his southern invasion, apparently well pleased with the reception of his Winston-Salem, N. C., speech. This address generally was interpreted as notice that he was a candidate in his own right, and did not favor a third term. He attended the Friday cabinet meeting.

Present also at the Friday cabinet meeting for the first time in nine months was Secretary of Commerce Harry Hopkins, once mentioned prominently as Mr. Roosevelt's heir apparent. Hopkins looked well after the long illness that confined him to his home. He said he had gained 22 pounds and expected to get back into harness again.

Dictator Josef Stalin, the reports said, has decided to put Voroshilov in personal command of the campaign, and to throw all available reserves against the Mannerheim defenses in a "final effort" to smash it.

CINCINNATI ADOPTS TAFT PLAN TO PREVENT FLOODS

CINCINNATI, Jan. 27—Plans for other flood protection measures for the city of Cincinnati were abandoned today in favor of the so-called Taft Plan, calling for a $7,000,000 cut-off wall to protect the bottomlands.

The plan sponsored by Councilman Charles P. Taft, brother of Ohio's junior senator, was approved by the city council by a 6-to-3 vote.

The action was taken exactly three years after Cincinnati's record flood, when the river reached a crest of 80 feet.

LONDON—Premier Refik Saydam of Turkey has retorted to German pressure against Rumania with a blunt warning to the Reich to keep hands off the Balkans, the Daily Express reported today from Bucharest.

CAPE TOWN, Jan. 27—The resolution of former Premier and Opposition Leader J. B. M. Hertzog for an immediate separate peace between Germany and the Union of South Africa was defeated by a vote of 81 to 59 in parliament today.

PARIS—Cold weather today limited activity on the Western Front so artillery duels east of the Vosges mountains and along the Rhine River. French airplanes reconnoitered on the western bank of the Rhine in the Cologne area, and German observers flew over eastern France. The morning official communique said "nothing to report."

COPENHAGEN, Jan. 27—The newspaper Politiken today reported in a Berlin dispatch that American embassies have sent every American citizen in Europe orders to leave for the United States within three and a half months, or risk their citizenship.

NEW SUBMARINE WARFARE LOOMS; NAZI SHIP HIT?

LONDON, Jan. 27—Britain's air and naval patrols today redoubled their efforts to combat what authorities believe is the beginning of a new U-boat campaign stretching fanwise over the North Sea and Atlantic.

An intensified hunt was on for a German submarine known to be operating off the northeast coast of Britain. This U-boat, it was believed, torpedoed the 4434-ton Latvian steamer Everene and 1300-ton Danish ship Gudveig in the North Sea yesterday.

Norwegian sailors arriving at a Northern Scottish port said they believed British destroyers sank another submarine a few days ago. They said they saw the warships drop many depth charges, and afterwards wreckage was seen.

A News Chronicle dispatch from Gothenburg, Sweden, today said it was reliably reported that the British reported that the British submarine Salmon torpedoed and badly damaged the German pocket battleship Deutschland recently. German quarters confirmed that the Deutschland, renamed the Luetzow, was back at its base, and the News Chronicle said it was undergoing repairs.

HERE'S the three big bad men of "Gulliver's Travels," Paramount's first full-length cartoon in Technicolor, which opens Sunday at the Clifton Theatre. They're spies for the Kingdom of Blefuscu, hereditary enemy of Lilliput, just like the book — only funnier. Our own spies tell us that Snitch — that's the last one to the right — is one of the funniest characters ever to reach the screen.

WAYNE Morris and Priscilla Lane top the star-studded cast of "Brother Rat and the Baby," the Grand's new Sunday picture which has more laughs than Mae West has curves.

RESOLUTION FOR THIRD F. D. TERM MAY BE KILLED

COLUMBUS, Jan. 27—A resolution urging President Roosevelt to run for a third term was expected to be killed before it comes up for a vote at the annual convention of the Ohio League of Young Democratic Clubs today.

Oscar A. Loyer, Findlay, retiring president of the organization, led the fight against consideration of such a proposal. He expressed informally the opinion that such a resolution would be a direct violation of the league's constitution which prohibits endorsement of candidates.

Another resolution, proposing that the league urge both Charles Sawyer and former Governor Martin L. Davey not to run for governor this year in the interest of party harmony, also was expected not to come up for a vote.

Opposing candidates for the presidency of the league were waging a campaign all their own as the conclave opened yesterday. Candidates to succeed Loyer are James T. Bolen, Toledo, and Ralph Groves, Steubenville.

The convention banquet was to be held tonight with Homer Mat Adams, of Springfield, Ill., national president of the league, scheduled to speak.

It's 40 below zero in Moscow, says a news dispatch. Even with Stalin plenty hot under the collar.

BRITISH READY TO ENDURE WAR, MINISTER SAYS

MANCHESTER, Eng., Jan. 27—The British people will face and endure "whatever might be coming to us," Winston Churchill, first lord of the admiralty, declared in a speech today.

"Our struggle," he said, "is against aggression, oppression, wrong-doing, faithlessness and cruelty from which there can be no turning back."

"We cannot tell what course the struggle will take, but it is sure to end in the right and we will win."

down, truer progress will appear and broader justice will reign." Churchill listed Britain's successes against U-boats and mines but warned it would be necessary to pay "relentless toll" for mastery of the seas.

"This time is no time for ease and comfort," he said with reference to rationing and other restrictions.

"It is a time to dare and endure."

The first lord asked why there had been no serious air raids on Britain.

"It is because the enemy is saving up for some orgy of frightfulness, or because they have not dared or dread the superior quality of our fighters?" he asked.

Belles of 1866 used lavender perfume and dropped lavender leaves into their mags for added allure.
